In Memoriam

How does one begin to honor our beloved pets who have left us in the past couple of years? You see I didn't know them well, apart from their owners. There was Jewel and Sheila, Red and Judi, Rusty & Piper and Shelly, Hadron and Rick. Each had their own special relationship with their owner. What I had the privilege to witness is the dance each dog had with their owner. The dogs would eagerly watch for a command, carry out the command then returned to their owner with tail wagging. Early on in the relationship there had to be corrections when the command was incorrect. However, the dogs didn't seem to mind because the owner was the "apple of their eye." As the dogs transitioned through life and illness the owners adjusted as well. You see the dance changed but love remained steadfast. Thank you for sharing with us the special dance of you and your beloved pet.
